

461

1912 Dates J-BK

440-461 reign

St. LEO I was 45th Pontiff
He succeeded ~~x~~ 4570s III

Mar 17, 461

According to tradition - St Patrick -
the patron saint of Ireland - died in Saul, County Down

461-465

1912 Dates J-BK

West Empire

LIBIUS SEVERUS was emperor.

He was placed on throne by RECIMIR.
He was probably deposed by RECIMIR.

deed 461

With the Saxon conquest of Britain, Christianity had been almost destroyed. In 5th cen. St. Patrick (d 461), who as a youth had spent 6 yrs in captivity in Ireland, became a monk in Gaul, returned to evangelize the land of his former captors

Mar 17, 461

St. Patrick died

Aug 461

Majus was returning from Gaul when he was captured by RICIMER, tortured and beheaded.

Ricimer then installed a harmless senator, LIBIUS SEVERUS as emperor SEVERUS III

The authority of Ricimer and his puppet-emperor now barely extended beyond the Italian Peninsula, and even there, they

With
you will soon get along by following our 461

In 461 the Sciri claimant to the Gothic throne, Rech. miend would try unsuccessfully to gain the support of Theodoric II

Euric's brother had fought for decades in Spain as loyal federate of Rome. His actions against the SUEVI and BAGAUDAE were undertaken on imperial command and in the Gothic's own interest. In Gaul this policy became possible after 461, when several emperors were struggling for recognition and Theodoric could choose in whose name he would profit. South of the Pyrenees, all that was at stake for a long time we have been in discussion a good deal, for you will remember the last time these two islands struck the coast, just last summer, such a long time that we could scarcely see them, and when we got back, just last summer, we had to go to the coast again, for another

461

off CARTAGENA, emperor MAJORIAN lost his fleet and his "luck".
He was dead by 461.

After death of MAJORIAN in 461, the master of Italy was now the half-Goth RICIMER; the upshot of his coup was that the empire nearly lost Gaul.

Agripides rebelled, whereas the Goths supported the new emperor RICIMER had installed, hoping to receive some sort of reward. There was total chaos; Romans fought against Romans and made deals with the barbarians. A general who was besieged in Narbonne by

A RELIOUS called John Tolouse for Emmeline and Theresa and the total value 462

461-465

Severus^{III} was emperor

Pope Leo the Great died.

He served as pope from 440 to 461. He was said to have boundless energy, a large heart, and a strong sense of duty. He contended authority in Rome and held firm to the doctrine that Christ is one person in whom the divine and human natures. Leo met Attila the Hun and persuaded and a kind of Africa

which now exists out
of Africa for Africa
is a kind of Africa
which now exists out
of Africa for Africa

St. Patrick died

In Ireland where he worked Christianity survived when the rest of England and Scotland passed under Pagan rule
In bringing Christianity to Ireland, Patrick brought the Latin language and the use of Latin letters - kept to all the European knowledge at the time.

Mar. 17, AD 461

According to tradition St. Patrick —
the patron saint of Ireland —
died in Ballycotton

461-465
west

Ann? did 465

URSUS SEVERUS - was raised to imperial dignity by RICIMER

461 - 476 AD

LAST ROMAN EMPERORS OF WEST

SEVERUS 461-465

ATHENIUS 465-467

ALYBRIUS 467-473

GLYCERIUS 473-474

JULIUS NERO 474-475

ROMULUS AUGUSTULUS 475-476

Death of Majorian. Severus emperor.

17 MARCH 461 AD

ST. PATRICK DIED

461 AD

SEVERUS II (West)

LEO I (East)

emperors